working on the fundamentals of Netball. Focusing on attacking prelims. body angles and positioning. The girls then had a crash course on the 4 phases of defence. Learning about how crucial each stage is and if executed properly will increase the chance of forced errors and allow for more turnovers.

The students at NICS were also very fortunate to have Mel run a clinic with them. We say a huge thank you to Mel for dedicating your time and expertise, the squad and team officials wholeheartedly enjoyed the experience and very grateful for the opportunity.

Saturday 12th August saw the girls take to the court against the Norfolk Misfits, and what an afternoon it was. A huge thank you to the Norfolk Island Community for coming down and showing your support. A special thank you mention to the boys on the fryers and BBQ, the girls running the canteen, our life members, the scorers and time keepers, the ball kids and of course the umpires.

A huge thank you to the girls on Norfolk Misfits for delivering two quality games of Netball, these games would not be possible if it wasn't for you. Final scores for the games were;

Second week of trials saw the girls endure a gruelling fitness and strength test. Put forward by their trainers Kelly and Tim. The girls gave it everything they had, and left nothing in the tank. And intense challenge both physically and mentally, the girls proving just how strong they have become over the last 5 months.

It was then a three hour training session with head coach Jenny and Assistant coach Myka. The squad working through some attacking and defence set plays.

The final night of trials and the girls took to the court for the last time against the Norfolk Misfits. A huge turnout from our physical supporters and we were lucky to have it live streamed for those wanting to tune in from afar. Thank you "Kaawa Sports" for the live coverage and commentating.

Pacific Games Squad 47 defeated Norfolk Misfits 38.

We say a huge thank you to our sponsor, Baunti Tours, Aloha, GP Services, NIBS, Island Plumbing and Gas, Wild Hihi and Salty Beer Garden.

The Norfolk Island Governance Committee

- continued from front page

Three community elected Norfolk Island representatives will join three Australian Government representatives to form the Norfolk Island Governance Committee (NIGC).

The role of the NIGC is to provide decisions, advice and recommendations on the governance of Norfolk Island.

- The NIGC's considerations will include the legislative framework and laws applying to Norfolk Island, the delivery of government services, and other governance-related matters of importance to the Norfolk Island community.
- The NIGC will work with the Norfolk Island community to deliver a plan, methodology and timeline to modernise Norfolk Island's governance, consistent with the needs and aspirations of its people, and establish:
 - a new governing body with the appropriate legislative authority and financial and administrative capacity to efficiently, effectively and sustainably administer its responsibilities, and
 - a new governance model that is clear, fair and effective, and ensures a secure and genuinely democratic future for Norfolk Island and all of its people.
- The NIGC will oversee and assist Norfolk Island's transition to the new governance model, and facilitate continued collaboration, cooperation and communication between Norfolk Island's new governing body, the Australian Government, and any service-delivery partners on Norfolk Island or in Australia.
- The NIGC will recognise the continued heritage, culture and traditions of the island's culturally distinct people and preserve their enduring connections with, and to, their homeland; its important sites and surrounding sea.

"On 8 June 1856, the entire Pitcairn Island community arrived on Norfolk Island on the promise that Norfolk Island would be their new homeland and would continue living according to their own laws, customs, culture and traditions. That promise was never respected and our people have endured a long succession of governance models imposed upon them.

Now, for the first time, we have an opportunity to help design and establish a genuinely democratic governance model - one that respects our needs and aspirations - and to build an inclusive and united community which recognises and celebrates the unique identity, culture and traditions of the Pitcairn descendants.

The NIGC initiative was developed by our Associations, for our community, in partnership with the Australian Government. We encourage everyone to embrace this opportunity in the best interests of Norfolk Island, its people, and its future."

Norfolk News

AUGUST 2023 #6

Introduction

Hello readers and welcome to another Norfolk News. This month, our focus is on some of the incredible scientific research that is conducted in the park! It's one of the primary motivations for first starting up this newsletter, as we personally find it fascinating and think many of you will too.

Norfolk Island boasts a truly unique biodiversity, and even in this modern day we are still unveiling new species and phenomena. Here, you will read about a newly discovered coral species, as well as how the use of technology has quantified rainfall through cloud water captured by the Norfolk Island Pine.

The national park also plays a crucial role in supporting new and upcoming researchers in their quests. This month, we feature a guest writer, Junn Foon, who is currently embarking on his PhD journey to answer critical questions about our endemic snails.

So sit back, enjoy the read, and we hope you learn something truly extraordinary!

Pines and palms play pivotal role in capturing cloud water!

The forests of Norfolk Island National Park, situated at elevations above 200 metres, are often shrouded in clouds. It has been suggested, based on scientific evidence and anecdotal observations, that these clouds may contribute water to the forest canopy in addition to rainfall, however, this phenomenon has never been measured before.

To bridge this knowledge gap a comprehensive study was conducted, measuring both throughfall (water reaching the forest floor directly through the canopy) and stemflow (water running down vegetation stems to the forest floor).

The 524-day study yielded intriguing results: stemflow largely dominated the water delivery to the forest floor, accounting for a staggering 48% of total atmospheric inputs. This far surpassed observations from cloud-affected ecosystems elsewhere, which typically recorded less than 10% stemflow contribution.

It was discovered that this was primarily due to the funnelling characteristics of the dominant palm and pine trees. Both pines and palms have upwardly angled branches/fronds which favour funnelling of water to the stem of individual trees.

Rainfall was rarely observed in the absence of low-level clouds. The cloud immersion events, at times spanning multiple days, ensured a continuous supply of water even in the absence of conventional rain. This cloud water interception amounted to approximately 20% of the total water input at both study sites, providing an extra 25% of water on top of the measured rainfall in open areas.

Though the additional hydrological input may be modest from an island-wide perspective, it holds immense importance for local hydrological processes and the unique plant, insect, and animal species thriving in Norfolk Island's upland forests.

If you'd like to read the full study, which was co-authored by locals Neil (Snowy) Tavener and Derek Greenwood, please visit:

Norfolk Island school students name a new coral species!

A recent survey conducted by Dr. Andrew Baird from James Cook University has uncovered a new species of Acropora coral (a branching species), exclusively found in the Norfolk Marine Park.

With every new species discovery, a distinct scientific name must be assigned to set it apart from others in its genus. To fulfill this task, Parks Australia invited the school's environmental group to help come up with a unique name.

Led by their teacher, Caryn Harrington, the students came up with a range of creative options. Their imaginative ideas included names inspired by the coral's location, Tahitian words related to coral and the ocean, as well as their school name.

The new coral species was found just off-shore in the Norfolk Marine Park.

After careful consideration, the submissions were shortlisted, and the students voted on their favourite options, which were then presented to Dr. Andrew Baird and Parks Australia representatives.

For now, the final winning name will remain a secret until the new species is formally approved. So stay tuned for the exciting reveal, and in the meantime, keep your eyes open when you're exploring the waters around the island, because you never know what new wonders are available for discovery.

Studying the ecology and genetics of Norfolk Island's unique land snails

Guest article – Junn Foon

Junn Kitt Foon is a PhD candidate at Western Sydney University supervised by Dr. Kate Umbers and Dr. John Hunt of Western Sydney University, and Dr. Isabel Hyman and Dr. Frank Köhler of the Australian Museum.

Land snails, insects, worms and the many small creatures that live around us often escape our attention. Yet, they play essential roles in our environment like recycling nutrients in soils and as food for birds and other animals. Native land snails come in a remarkable variety of shapes and colours, with around 60 land snail species found only on Norfolk and Phillip Islands. Unfortunately, land snails are among the world's most threatened animals. In many Pacific islands, native land snails have become extinct due to predation by introduced species such as rats and flatworms, as well as habitat loss. Among the five largest species on Norfolk and Phillip islands, two have become extinct while three species are Critically Endangered, being reduced to a few tiny populations. Over the last three years, Dr. Isabel Hyman and Dr. Frank Köhler of the Australian Museum, in collaboration with the Norfolk Island National Park and NIRC have been reviewing the land snail species on Norfolk and Phillip Islands. This provided a valuable baseline to initiate more in-depth studies to inform conservation plans.

To that end, I have begun a three-year PhD research journey (2023 to 2025) to investigate:

- (1) How are the last few populations of these threatened species genetically connected to each other?
- (2) What are the best habitats for native land snails on the islands?
- (3) What predators eat these threatened species and how much impact do they have on these snails?
- (4) How might climate change impact these snails? Answering these questions will help inform Norfolk and Phillip Island conservation plans to secure the long-term survival of these unique land snails.

If you are keen to volunteer in future fieldwork or if you are a landowner interested to know what land snails can be found in the forest or scrub on your land, please reach out to me at: 22078036@student.westernsydney.edu.au or Junn.Foon@Australian.Museum

I look forward to meeting and collaborating with you.

From the Principal's Desk

Welcome back to the Year 12 students who attended the inaugural Year 12 Tour to Sydney last week. The feedback from the students and families has been overwhelmingly positive and I hope the students remember this for years to come.

A special acknowledgement to Kirstin Ellard, Luke Howlett and Carly Ellis who were the coordinating staff who planned and supported the tour. I look forward to seeing what happens in this space in 2024.

Welcome back and congratulations to Ava Mullins, Liam Christian Bailey and Mr Miller who represented Norfolk Island at the World Outrigging Championships in Samoa. Ava competed in the under 16 girls, Liam in the under 16 boys and Lance Miller in the senior master's category.

Welcome back also to Timi Snell who represented QLD at the Trans-Tasman Squash Challenge held in Sydney last week. Timi played 10 matches across the week against teams from NSW and NZ. Congratulations on a great QLD team result Timi, and I believe her next tournament is the Oceania Championships in Tauranga, NZ in December.

I would like to pass on my congratulations to Jordan Murray, who has been selected in the Norfolk Island Netball Team to play at the 2023 Pacific Games in the Solomon Islands in Term 4. Jordan has trained extremely hard and her efforts have been rewarded by being selected in the team. NICS teacher, Rachel Gentles, will also travel as the team manager. Congratulations to you both.

Thank you to all of the students and families for the wonderful Book Week events last week, culminating in the book parade at Wednesday's assembly. Thank you to the staff who supported and dressed up each day, and thank you to the families for the outstanding student costumes.

This week has been Teacher Aid Appreciation Week. Teacher Aids play a vital role in supporting students from P-12 with their learning. I would like to acknowledge all of the Teacher Aids for their dedication and commitment to supporting the students in their classes and for supporting the staff at NICS. Thank you to Jill King for coordinating the week.

Thank you to the community members who took the time to engage with the school review team who were here on island last week. The feedback from the review will guide the strategic direction of the school for the next four years. The report will be back at the school in the next few weeks and I will make this available on the school website.

Thank you to the families who have returned their prep enrolment forms for 2024. Could all parents please have this completed by the end of the term. If you require new forms, or have any questions, please see the ladies in the front office or phone 23000.

Sports and Citizenship Assembly & Senior Leadership Induction

The annual Sports and Citizenship Ceremony will be held at the school on Wednesday, 13 September from 145pm. As last year, the newly elected Senior Leadership Team will be inducted at the commencement of this ceremony. I invite all families to attend.

Beyond Norfolk - Year 12

Susie Edmonds will be travelling to the island next week to work with the year 12 students and their families around post school support. The workshops are designed to equip Year 12 students with essential skills for their post school journey and to develop practical strategies to overcome obstacles, build resilience and thrive as they transition post school.

Year 12 will be attending a workshop on Tuesday in the sports pavilion, led by Susie Edmonds and supported by the Norfolk Island Health and Wellbeing team.

There will be a staff session on Tuesday, 5 September from 3-4pm along with a community session on Wednesday, 6 September at 530pm in the library. This session will aim to empower parents and community members with valuable tools and strategies to support young people as they face the challenge of leaving the island for further study or work. Thank you to The Norfolk Island Health and Wellbeing Team for supporting the students at NICS. Thank you to the young members of the Youth Mental Health Awareness Group who came up with the idea and concept for this project.

P&C

The NICS P&C will meet next Wednesday, 6 September at the school from 7- 8pm. New families are welcome to come along.

Time to talk about plastics

First patented in 1907 by a Belgian chemist, plastic existed but was sparingly used until the 60's and 70's. As its popularity grew, it began to replace glass, metal, and ceramics as a cheap and convenient alternative for food storage, homewares, production, and so much more.

In the short 60 years that plastic has been the material of choice, it has colonised the world! From the world's highest and most remote mountaintops to the Mariana Trench, plastic has infiltrated ecosystems, soil, animals, and even humans!

The majority of plastics that we, as humans, use are single-use. The throw-away nature of this lifestyle has resulted in massive environmental damage.

The broad range of plastic types available to us, like PET, PVC, ABS, etc., can make it difficult to classify and often results in plastics being placed in the 'too hard' basket.

They wind up in landfills that pollute our local soil and waterways, or are exported to other countries where they do the same thing to someone else's environment.

There are many different options and innovations for recycling/repurposing plastic. From clothing and prosthetic limbs to pyrolysis and the creation of fuel, each innovation fills a niche and requires specific technology.

Revolve Your World considered multiple options for plastic recycling at the Norfolk Wave, eventually settling on the Resin8 concrete aggregate.

But why?

Unlike most other plastic recycling systems, Resin8 can process all plastic types from 1-7. We can process the commonly known recyclables like ice-cream containers, sauce bottles, etc., but we can also process soft plastics like glad wrap, chocolate wrappers, and plastic bags!

This broad brush approach means we can accept all of the community's plastic together (on the proviso that it's clean), and yorlyi don't have to worry about sorting into a million different plastic types. The other reason for choosing the Resin8 was that it would help to subsidise the demand for crushed rock aggregate. Norfolk is only so big, and constantly quarrying for rock is unsustainable.

We can't use the Resin8 aggregate in road base (due to its plastic makeup) but it's excellent for use in slabs, curbing, bricks, etc., where there is less wear and likelihood of microplastic contamination into the environment—using a problem to solve a problem!

But how do we make it?

When plastic arrives at the Norfolk Wave, it gets sent across the Recyclapod bench for sorting and cleaning (fingers crossed it's already clean). We then process the clean plastics through our granulator, where the plastic is chopped into 10mm pieces. We then feed the granulated plastic into two big metal hoppers.

Expressions of Interest open for the Toon Trust Environmental Funding round 7 on Friday 18 August 2023.

The objective of the Trust is to finance individuals or groups, initiatives relating to environmental protection, heritage protection, natural resource management and land management.

Projects that contribute to improved water quality or water retention will be prioritised in this funding round.

However, if you have a project that does not focus on improved water quality or water retention but is in line with the other environmental aims of the funding, you can still apply.

Further information such as the guidelines, expression of interest form and frequently asked questions can all be downloaded from www.norfolkisland.gov.nf/open-tenders-and-eoi

Time to talk about plastics - continued

The plastic equipment consists of a granulator, five metal hoppers, a large paddle blender, an extruder, a water bath, a shredder, a conveyor, piping, and screw mechanisms. We have granulated plastic, hydrated lime, and carbon (from the carboniser we spoke about last week) inside the hoppers. An internal screw mechanism feeds each of these three components into the paddle blender. The paddle blender evenly mixes this combination before delivering it into a final hopper. The plastic/lime/carbon blend is then fed into the extruder, heated, and pushed out as a 25mm black sausage into a water bath. The reaction in the water bath expands the sausage and makes it porous. The sausages are left to cool and dry on a rack before being fed through the shredder and into a bulker bag for storage and later use.

Resin8 exceeds the ASTM standards for material performance and is the only material from plastic waste to improve the performance of structural concrete products.

It has been rigorously tested to demonstrate increased compression strength, flexibility, fire resistance, thermal resistance, and acoustic properties. It can be used in structural and non-structural applications. If you'd like to read more about Resin8, check out their website, INTRODUCING RESIN8™ – CRDC Global.

With a more in-depth understanding of how we're repurposing plastic at The Norfolk Wave, you can see why we must receive clean plastics. Remember, we can even recycle Glad Wrap! If you give us clean plastics, we can recycle them!

Congratulations

Congratulations to Drew Danaher on becoming the new owner of Wilde Brud Barber Shop as of the 1st of September.

The barber shop was an idea I had with Chad and opened in March 2018 in the little room off the side of the now Salty Beer Garden.

We had no idea the success it would become and the "little room" soon became too small and I re-located it to the shop it is in today next to P and R groceries.

Thankyou to Chad, Drew, Charlie and Shawn for helping me grow this Barber shop into a service for the Norfolk Island community.

Under Drew's dedication and professionalism to the customers, it has only continued to thrive.

Thanks fe me,

Cassie

Dear Editor,

Norfolk Island Governance Committee

This will be the first time in one hundred and sixty-seven years that the people of Norfolk Island will have a say in how we are to be governed. It is important! Let's not screw it up!

There could be any number of candidates that will stand who are competent and experienced, but we have to choose sullen who would not kowtow to pressure, like those who signed and agreed to the "Territories Law Reform Bill" or the "Road Map".

Just a couple of points (of the many) that the NIGC will have to consider:

There are approximately 3.5 people per square kilometer in Australia. In Norfolk Island we have a population density of 62.75 people per square kilometer. We must have immigration control.

The GST that we had (where everyone had to contribute) brought in much more than the Land Tax we now pay. There is no way we could become a part of the Australian GST. Let's scrap the land tax.

In 1987 the Australian Parliament's Constitutional Commissions Advisory Committee on the Distribution of Powers reported; "The Norfolk Island Government seeks a special relationship with the Commonwealth. We point out that machinery does exist which could accommodate the Island's having a "free association" status with Australia, similar to the relationship of the Cook Islands with New Zealand. This could be provided for under Sections 51(xxix) and 122 [of the Australian Constitution], with Australia's having responsibility for the Island's external affairs and defence"

The electoral roll opens on the 6th September. Make sure you enroll.

Yours Sincerely,

Ric Robinson

Dear Sir,

Democracy must be claimed back by those on N.I, not from any unelected, unaccountable foreign organisation but by us on Norfolk Island now.

If smart metres go ahead on Norfolk Island democracy will be non-existent, forever, period. These two systems cannot co-exist together.

Smart metres always bring with it higher prices and apart from the well known health dangers to people, animals and birds, they are about very invasive monitoring, spying and surveillance via artificial intelligence stored on databases, accessed by unknown parties for multiple reasons.

There is now a clear agenda to set N.I. up on 15 minute smart city model. This is happening in multiple cities and towns across the world. The plan is to have all those local to those locations watched 24/7, restrained to a 15 minute walk limit for all and any reason.

Smart metre work with street cameras and other A.I. systems and enforced with the soon to come social credit score. Auwas future if this system is not rejected by all on Norfolk now, democracy and the Norfolk was will be gone forever.

Your call! You and yorlye need to throw this system out now before it is here to stay.

Yours etc.

Chris L.

Health & Wellbeing Expo 2023 – A Success!

The 5th Norfolk Island Health and Wellbeing Expo was held on Saturday 26 August. It was a great success with an estimated 200 people coming along to engage with all things health and wellbeing. We had 22 Exhibitors both local and visiting services, organisation and businesses with 25 lucky door prizes. The range of information, products and services on show was amazing for such a small island.

This year seven presentations were held in the week leading up to the Expo. We would like to thank Dale Howe, Dr Jodie McCoy, Siebren De Boer, Dementia Support

Calling for Community Volunteers

NIHRACS is seeking volunteers to become community members of the service's Committees and Working Groups. These volunteer roles are vital in ensuring the voice of the Norfolk Island Community is central to the planning and development of NIHRACS services and operational governance and will provide invaluable support as we work to gain accreditation against the National Safety and Quality Health-Care Standards, and to see the NIHRACS mission and strategic goals and priorities become reality. If you would like further information, please email qualitysafetyrisk@health.nlk.gov.nf

I went to James Cook University in Townsville and graduated with a double degree in Bachelor of Nursing and Bachelor of Science. Prior to coming to Norfolk Island, I have worked in a variety of health care settings, including one of Brisbane's largest hospitals. In 2019 I completed Masters in Public Health and began teaching undergraduate nursing and paramedics at university.

I have relocated to Norfolk Island with my husband and four children, and we are enjoying the laid-back lifestyle, fishing and natural beauty that the island has to offer.

Workshop Details:

- Date: Wednesday 6th September, 2023
- Venue: The Supper Room (adjoining Rawson Hall)
- Time: 5:15 PM (Arrival) for a 5:30 PM start
- Finish: 7:30 PM

Optional Brainstorming Session: Stay for an additional 30 minutes to contribute your ideas for a mentoring program aimed at assisting young people leaving Year 12 for further study or work on the mainland.

Thanks to Daniela Cristofaro for Salsa Dance Program

The final Salsa dance program was held on Tuesday 29 August and greatly enjoyed by all who attended. Many thanks to Daniela Cristofaro for running the program in conjunction with the Health and Wellbeing team. We wish her all the best on her next adventure and hope she comes back to Norfolk at some stage. Thanks also to Siebren for allowing the use of his area for the classes.

September is Childhood Cancer Awareness Month

Childhood Cancer Awareness month is celebrated each year in September worldwide. Sadly, in Australia, around 750 to 800 children under the age of 15 are diagnosed with cancer every year and almost half of those diagnosed are aged 0-4 years. The good news is that survival rates for children with cancer in Australia continue to improve. The five year relative survival rate for all childhood cancers combined is 86%, up from 73% in the period 1983-1994. Most of the gains have occurred as a direct result of improvements in treatment through international collaborative clinical trials, of which Cancer Council is a part.

Bumboras Community Tree Planting

Our second community tree planting took place on Sunday, 20th August. Despite the torrential rain all through Saetdii night, Sunday morning was filled with sunshine. A small but committed crew of volunteers rallied together to revegetate the hillside at the top of Bumboras Reserve beside the driveway.

This area was recently cleared of African Olive and Hawaiian Holly. There was a nice amount of natural regeneration taking place in the form of young Pines, Flax, and White Oak, but we assisted in speeding up the process by adding 120 more Flax, Pine, Oak, and Abutilon as well.

We even found some Senecio sp. a rare, endangered endemic Yellow Daisy! We only found 3 specimens in the planting site but it was a beautiful reminder that the hard work pays off in more way than one.

This area is an important area to protect. Its steepness, combined with the exposure to intense and constant winds, heightens its erosion risk. Our plantings in this area from last year have taken off, with the Flax flowering and the Coastal Coprosma producing its first seed.

The Pig Face will gradually spread and aid in stabilising the bank and providing a habitat for the next generation of seeds to germinate and take hold. This area is important for our migratory seabirds. Terns and Noddies nest in the pines, Tropic Birds on the banks, and Goesbad (Ghost Birds), and petrels in burrows in the cliffs. By stabilising the banks and creating shelter, we can extend the habitat for our precious seabirds. And they, in turn, will provide nutrients for better tree growth. It's a beautiful cycle. We may even see some Gaanet there one day.

As usual, thanks to our awesome volunteers for always showing up for Norfolk's environment, rain, hail, or shine!

Our next community tree planting will take place at Cockpit on Sunday 10th September.

Thanks f mii

Community Arts Society
Wearable Arts
Extravaganza
21st October 2023

Community Arts Society's "Wearable Arts Extravaganza" is getting closer and closer.

Below are the categories for this year.

Recycled – No Theme - In the Recycled Material category entrants must create an outfit that is made from at least 85% USED materials - typically items we might generally find in everyday life that are sent to the Waste Management Centre only to be re-purposed as amazing outfits in this category.

Headdress – Theme "Natural Fibre" - This has been a very popular category, so we are including it again this year. As there will be no "Natural Fibre" category in 2023, it has been decided that this category will have "Natural Fibre" as the theme. Entries must be made from 85% natural fibre, either dried or fresh – no artificial flowers or fruit etc. Inspiration: Flowers, leaves, fruit, plaiting and branches.

Illuminated – Theme "Alien Adventure" (Is there anything out there?) - The possibilities with this theme are endless from aliens and astronauts, to planets and stars. Be inspired by the night sky, your imagined residents of other planets and those who shoot for the stars. Remember that these entries need to be visible under 'black light'.

Extravagant Open – Theme "Metallic" - Gold, silver, bronze etc. Use one or more of these metals to create your extravagant entry. Inspiration: Knights in shining armour, golden goddesses, bronze statues.

Non-Resident Category – No Theme - The committee was asked to include a section for entries from former entrants who no longer live on the island or those interested in being part of the event. There is no theme, so it is up to the imaginations of the designers. Although there will be prizes for this category, the winners will not be eligible for the Overall Designers' awards.

Time will speed by, only 7 weeks to go, so let's all get started on our creations.

Entry Forms are available now at Benjamins.

If you have any questions, or need any clarification on the categories, contact Kay on 52978.

We can't wait for another spectacular show!

Nosebleeds

The small blood vessels in the area between the nostrils are fragile and can burst easily causing a nosebleed. In children, the nose tends to bleed from only one side. Children usually grow out of the condition. If the bleeding is very heavy, prolonged or does not stop with first aid measures, take your child to NIHRACS.

Symptoms of nosebleeds

- bleeding from either or both nostrils
- a tingling feeling in the back of the throat

Causes of nosebleeds

A nosebleed can be caused by a range of factors, including:

- fragile blood vessels that bleed easily, in warm dry air or after exercise
- an infection of the sinuses, allergies that causes hay fever or coughing
- bumps or falls, an object that has been pushed up the nostril like a finger

Treatment

Reassure the person, especially children, as crying increases blood flow.

- Sit the person up straight and drop their head slightly forward.
- Apply finger and thumb pressure on the soft part of nostrils below the bridge of the nose for at least 10 minutes.
- Tell them to breathe through their mouth while their nostrils are pinched.
- Loosen tight clothing around the neck.

- Place a cold cloth or cold pack over the person's forehead and one around the neck, especially around the sides of the neck.
- After 10 minutes, release the pressure on the nostrils and check to see if the bleeding has stopped.
- If bleeding persists, seek medical aid.
- Tell the person not to sniff or blow their nose for at least 15 minutes and not to pick their nose for the rest of the day.

Father's Day 2023.

Recently a teenage lass was complaining about her father's decision... This father has a unique idea about helping his daughter toward maturity.

He told her that this would make her feel grown up ---- he gave her her own Telecom account! (well done Dad!)

This young man has a candid opinion of his father. He shared with me: "Of all the people I admire is my father. He is a great old guy. Some of my friends think parents are just for griping at you, but I don't think this is really true. They are for love and affection."

She is sixteen years, attending NICS. ... "My father is such a nice man that I think he must have been a girl when he was a boy."

Abraham Lincoln ... "I like to see a man proud of the place in which he lives.

I like to see a man live so that his place will be proud of him."

"HAPPY FATHER'S DAY

After all the action of the Grant Burge Classic it was a somewhat quieter week at Norfolk Island Golf Club.

We thank the Administrator of Norfolk Island George Plant for his input and continuing the Administrators Cup last weekend.

On a sad note we unfortunately say farewell to Club Manager Josa this week. Josa has worked tirelessly at the club knowing every member at the club including their order at the bar, works behind the scenes ensuring the bar stock is ready to go as well as keeping everyone informed with her Facebook posts and organising presentations and other functions.

The club and the members will miss Josa but we hope you will come and say hi. The whole club wishes you luck in your future endeavours Josa.

Competition Result

Local N.I.C.S. Squashie does well representing Queensland in Sydney.

Participation in sports help youth develop physical skills, get exercise, make friends, have fun, learn to play as a member of a team, learn to play fair, and improve self-esteem - and this was certainly the case for Timi Snell who only last week participated alongside 60 other youth squash players representing New Zealand, NSW and Queensland at the school's National Squash Exchange hosted by Thornleigh Squash Centre in Sydney.

This follows on from her other experiences at the 2023 Oceania Junior Championships (Sydney), The Australian Junior Open (Melbourne) and Queensland State Schools Regional Championships as Darling Downs' no. 1 in Rockhampton - a big first year of representative squash for her.

Achieving her Queensland No. 4 ranking in Rockhampton meant Timi earned a place in the Queensland team for the National Squash Exchange.

The National Squash Exchange is a team's event between Queensland, New South Wales and New Zealand and players each play 10 matches over five days of intense competition, played in two age groups, Under 15 and Under 19. The exciting competition features both Australian and New Zealand champions, and it was only a few years ago past world no. 1 Paul Cole played in the event.

The week culminates in a Trans-Tasman Challenge between the Kiwis and the Australian team made up of the best NSW and Queensland players.

In the Interstate Exchange between Queensland and NSW, the Queensland team secured victories in both the 15 and under girls as well as the open girls' division. The girls were also victorious in doubles. Well done girls.

The overall Interstate exchange saw NSW take the overall event, and the boys won over the Queensland boys.

In the Trans-Tasman there are 20 singles and 10 doubles matches to decide the champion team. The first team to 16 wins are the victors. Last year was the closest the Aussie team has ever been to beating NZ since the series started in this format in 2012 where the NZ team won by 16-14. This year the New Zealand team won 17-13. The Australian combined states team for the Trans-Tasman Test Match had 11 Queensland players.

This was another incredible experience in Timi's squash progression, making and catching up with many friends and learning about winning, and importantly, losing on the big stage. Timi's next event is the 2023 Oceania Junior Championships in New Zealand, in December.

Thank you to everyone who has supported Timi in her squash. The Norfolk players, and those abroad. A special thanks to those regulars who support the family cake stalls at the Sunday Markets to not only send Timi to her squash events, but also Croyden to meet up with Sam Cribb and Arki Nobbs to represent Norfolk at the tennis Pacific Nations Cup in Apia next week. More on that in the tennis news.
