VALE

Last Monday morning we heard of the death of Martin Quintal, who had been in ill health for some time.

A couple of weeks ago Martin slipped and broke a hip.

Martin was flown out to New Zealand for treatment on 20th June but it would appear that his health deteriorated and thanks to Mr. John Brown of Norfolk Island Airways, the Super King Air was despatched to New Zealand to bring Martin home last Saturday.

Charles Martin Quintal was born on Norfolk Island on 2nd September 1912. He spent most of his life on the island, going to school here, later marrying Emma. They had one daughter, Kathy.

During the whaling days on Norfolk, Martin not only was involved in whaling on the island but was one of those sent to Byron Bay where he was trained in Harpoon work.

When not whaling, Martin did a lot of carpentry work and was a member of the Administration Works staff for many years.

He loved cricket and was a member of the Kingston team in his younger days.

A stockily built man, he had a wonderful sense of humour and a great family man - he and Emma living quietly, their life revolving around Kathy.

Our sincere sympathies are extended to Emma and Kathy and Kathy's son Ron and family - to the many relatives and friends of Emma and Martin, in their sadness.

On behalf of the family, Ron wishes to record their thanks to all who have been such a help to them - to Matron Phyllis Brown and her husband John who made the plane available for bringing Martin home, to Peter and Michael Evans and Leonie Buffett - to the doctors and staff at the Hospital, the wreath makers, grave diggers, the Administration, to those who sent wreaths and cards and all who helped in so many other ways. Thank you.

... Who should come into the Printery on Friday morning but Kate McKegg - who is now Kate Sams. She and husband Laurie have been married since May and they now live at Nelson's Bay - up Newcastle way - Laurie being an Army Paratrooper stationed at Williamtown.

The McKegg family left Norfolk some 9 years ago - Bob being our Dental Officer for a few years prior to them going back to New Zealand.

News of the family is that dad is now lecturing at the Medical School in Auckland on Epidemiology and doing dentistry only part-time. Mum is nursing, Alexandra who is now 19 is studying Music at the Auckland University, singing and writing music and has had her first song recorded (taking after dad, who it may be remembered, used to sing at the Garrison Restaurant!); William (18) is Deputy Head at Auckland Grammar, playing in the Rugby 15. Robbie, now 13 is in First year at Auckland Grammar and playing football and cricket.

As for Kate herself - she is attending Newcastle University studying Japanese and Sociology. She and Laurie had been over to New Zealand to see her family and were aboard the Hercules which left for Australia at lunch-time on Friday.

Our picture shows Kate and husband Laurie on their way to do a little shopping in the couple of hours they had on Norfolk!!

CONGRATULATIONS

Sincere congratulations to Art and Jean Mawson, whose 63rd Wedding Anniversary will be on Monday 15th July.

Art and Jean were married at Katoomba on that day way back in 1922 - and we all wish you both many more happy years together, Art and Jean!
